EPA to Hold Open House and Public Meeting in Willowbrook

CHICAGO (November 28, 2018) — Tomorrow, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will host an open house and community forum to provide updates on the Agency's work to better understand air emissions of ethylene oxide from the Sterigenics facility in Willowbrook, Illinois. Both events are open to the press and the public.

WHAT: Open House

WHEN: Thursday, November 29, 2018

3:00 - 6:00 pm CT

WHERE: Ashton Place, 341 75th St, Willowbrook, Ill.

WHAT: Community Forum

WHEN: Thursday, November 29, 2018

7:00 - 10:00 pm CT

WHERE: Ashton Place, 341 75th St, Willowbrook, Ill.

The open house will provide an opportunity for individuals to talk one-on-one with staff from EPA and other agencies about their concerns. The community forum will feature a series of expert panels to respond to questions EPA has been receiving from the communities around the Sterigenics facility. Staff from EPA, the State of Illinois, and the Tri-State Fire Department will provide information in response to questions about ethylene oxide in the community. The Agency will also discuss the work it is doing to better understand risks from ethylene oxide emissions, and its plans for ongoing community information and engagement.
